Welcome!

The HR Office’s Onboarding Handbook was developed as a tool to guide your human resources (HR) office through the commonwealth’s onboarding process. This handbook provides details on your HR office’s role in onboarding from the job offer through the end of the employee’s first year of his or her commonwealth career, as well as expected onboarding activities for supervisors and employees.

Please note that this handbook is designed to provide guidance and tools from a statewide perspective. We hope that you will customize its contents so that it meets the unique needs of your agency.

We hope that you find the HR Office’s Onboarding Handbook a benefit to you and your HR staff!

What is Onboarding?

According to consultants Booz, Allen and Hamilton, onboarding is the process of integrating new employees into an organization and equipping them to become successful and productive. Onboarding helps employees get “on-board” with the culture of the workplace and the expectations of their new job.

The commonwealth’s onboarding process consists of both online and face-to-face orientations depending on the conditions under which the employee accepts the job. For example, new hires are expected to participate in an online orientation to complete the hiring process, while transfers from another state agency may participate in only in-person orientations facilitated by the HR office and the supervisors.

Why is Onboarding important?

Starting a new job is exciting and can be stressful! A well-designed onboarding process can help an incoming employee feel welcome and more comfortable when beginning new duties.

In addition, by streamlining the process for in-processing, i.e. completing new hire paperwork, badging, accessing IT systems, etc. the employee can be well on the way to becoming productive and successful.

Lastly, onboarding can communicate your agency’s mission and values and help the employee identify with the organization. This is extremely important in acclimating the employee to the culture of your organization and giving him/her ideas of how s/he can contribute to its goals.

Who goes through the Onboarding process?

Every new employee! The best practice is that every employee who is new to your organization participates in an onboarding process.

Who goes through the Online Orientation?

While every new employee will be onboarded, only certain groups of employees will go through the online orientation. These groups include:

- New hires (Action Type ZA) – employees who have never worked for a commonwealth agency under the Governor’s jurisdiction.
- Re-hires (Action Type ZB) – employees who have worked for the commonwealth, were separated, and have returned to service.
- Returns from furlough (ZC) – employees who were furloughed from their salaried Commonwealth position and are returned to service through recall or reemployment processes.
- Annuitants (ZB) – employees who retired from Commonwealth service and are returned to work for not more than 95 days in a calendar year. Please note that annuitants will only go through certain tours within the pre-hire/online onboarding process.
- Dual Hires (ZS) – employees who are employed by more than one agency in two or more positions.
The following groups will not be included in the online orientation, but you may ask them to obtain or update certain employment-related paperwork:

- Transfers from other agencies under the Governor’s jurisdiction
- Employees on long-term leave
- Employee Groups
  - C = PA Conservation Corps
  - G = PA National Guard
  - R = Health Registrars
  - X = External Persons (patient resident workers and non-commonwealth employees)
- Employee Sub Groups
  - E9 = External (officials/board members)
  - U9 = Volunteers

Lastly, the Office of Attorney General, the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board, the Pennsylvania Utility Commission and the Pennsylvania Gaming Control Board are excluded from the online component of the commonwealth’s onboarding process.

What is included in Onboarding?

Onboarding begins with the acceptance of a job offer. There are activities for the HR office, like submitting the E-PAR and conducting an agency orientation. There are two online tours (“Completing the Hiring Process” and “Your Job with the Commonwealth”) for the prospective hire to take. And, there’s a to-do list for supervisors to guide them through the employee’s first year.

More information will follow on these activities and tools under “What does the Onboarding process look like?”

What does the Onboarding process look like?

The commonwealth’s onboarding process begins when the prospective hire has accepted the job offer and continues to the end of the employee’s first year of employment.

We anticipate that most prospective hires will follow the standard process, which we refer to as Tier 1. Depending on access to technology, variations of the standard process exist. These will be described in more detail later. Be prepared to provide direction to supervisors on the alternatives that work best for your agency.

Let’s focus on Tier 1 in detail...

Completing the Hiring Process:

You have garnered all appropriate approvals to hire the selected candidate. Either you as the HR representative or the supervisor has extended an offer of employment to the employee.

Good news! The candidate has accepted!

If it is your agency’s practice that the HR office, rather than the supervisor, makes the job offer, please advise the prospective hire that he or she will participate in an online orientation to complete the hiring process. Here is a suggested script:

“We are delighted that you will be joining the commonwealth and our organization. Our goal is to help you transition smoothly into your new job. You will receive an invitation to your home email to complete the hiring process through our online orientation website. These critical employment forms include the set up of a direct deposit account for your biweekly pay and your employment eligibility. The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania participates in the Federal Employment Verification Program (E-Verify). Your employment will be contingent upon confirmation of your employment eligibility through the E-Verify Program. If you do not complete these forms on time, your pay may be delayed. If you have questions during the online orientation, you may call the HR Service Center; contact information will be available throughout the orientation. If you have questions specifically about your job, please feel free to contact me or your supervisor.”

HR Service Center
Also, be sure to confirm the employee’s personal information, using the Fill a Vacant Position E-PAR Worksheet (see Appendix B) for reference. Follow up with the employee by sending the Quick Guide for New Employees that can be found in ESS > Forms > New Employee Forms. A sample of this guide is included as Appendix I.

Taking into account your agency’s internal approval process, the Fill a Vacant Position E-PAR should be received by the HR Service Center at least 14 days in advance of the employee’s start date.

Why 14 days? This time allows:
✓ The HR Service Center to establish the initial employee record in SAP
✓ The prospective hire to participate in the online orientation and become familiar with commonwealth employment
✓ The supervisor to prepare the workspace and equipment and notify the incoming employee’s colleagues about his or her arrival
✓ The IT office and building security to coordinate appropriate network and facility access

See Appendix B for additional information on the Fill a Vacant Position E-PAR process.

The appointment letter will be generated by the HR Service Center and attached to the completed E-PAR. The HR office should send the letter to the incoming employee and include a copy in the Official Personnel Folder (OPF).

Before Day 1:

What is the prospective hire doing? After the HR Service Center has established the initial employee record in SAP (or updated the history of a returning employee), the prospective hire is sent an invitation to his or her personal email account to participate in an online orientation.

Once the prospective hire logs into the online orientation site, he or she will take two online tours:
• Tour 1 – Completing the Hiring Process: includes position details, required employment forms, such as emergency contact information, W-4, prior service, medical plan enrollment, and standard policies to be acknowledged
• Tour 2 – Your Job with the Commonwealth: includes information on time off, compensation, pay statements, employee self service and human resources support as well as details about the myriad of available employee benefits and training/development opportunities

While participating in the tours, if the prospective hire has a question about benefits or other employment-related information, he or she is encouraged to contact the HR Service Center by calling 866.377.2672 or using the “Ask a Question” feature in the online orientation.

What is the supervisor doing? Simultaneous with the invitation sent to the prospective hire, an email notification is sent to the supervisor reminding him or her to onboard the incoming employee. A link to the Supervisor’s Onboarding Checklist is included with this notice. Please also see Appendix C for more information.

What are you, the HR office, doing? The HR Service Center is the prospective hire’s point of contact for most questions that may arise during the online orientation. Of course, the HR office still has an important role to play in the onboarding process!

The HR office is copied on the supervisor’s onboarding notification discussed above. This is your trigger to prepare for the agency’s orientation program and to assist the supervisor with onboarding activities, if necessary.

The HR office remains responsible for updating leave and seniority information in SAP. Within Tour 1 on the “Prior Service” page, the prospective hire will be asked about possible prior commonwealth service, military service and past contributions to the State Employees’ Retirement System (SERS). Responses will be forwarded via email to the HR office to adjust leave quotas and seniority, if necessary.
Depending on your agency’s internal process, the HR office may also be designated to verify the incoming employee’s employment eligibility. The individual designated as the I-9 verifier in the E-PAR will receive a notice when the prospective hire has completed the employment verification tour stop. Ensure that you follow commonwealth policy and your agency’s standard procedures for reviewing original documents necessary for the I-9 form.

While the employee will acknowledge the commonwealth’s supplementary employment policy during Tour 1, the HR office coordinates the review and approval of requests for supplementary employment. Follow your agency’s internal process for obtaining supplemental employment requests and working with your legal office to review.

These are just a few items that all HR offices have to address prior to the employee’s start date. You may have other agency-specific requirements that must be addressed before the employee begins.

What are others doing? Along with the prospective hire’s invitation to take the online orientation and the supervisor’s reminder to onboard the incoming employee, a notice is sent to resource accounts set up for the IT office and the offices responsible for badging and space allocation. Following agency business processes for IT access, building access, and employee identification, these organizations should prepare for the incoming employee’s arrival.

During the First Week:

What is the supervisor doing? This is a busy time for a supervisor! During the first week, the supervisor plays a pivotal role.

The supervisor should be encouraging the employee to finish the online orientation if it remains incomplete. Tour 1 is due within the first three days of employment. If the employee does not complete Tour 1 by the second day of employment, the supervisor will receive a notice via email. Tour 2 is due within the first two weeks of employment. If Tour 2 remains unfinished after this deadline, the supervisor will receive a notice via email.

The supervisor should also be initialing (along with the employee) the completed items on the Supervisor’s Onboarding Checklist. Important items include ensuring the employee has all appropriate access and equipment, updating the position description and sharing written work expectations/performance standards.

What is the new employee doing? This is an exciting time for the employee!

The employee should have completed at least the required employment forms through the online orientation by now. If not, he or she should complete Tour 1 by the third day on the job, and Tour 2 within 14 days.

With the supervisor’s guidance, the employee should be participating in the supervisory orientation. By the end of the first week of employment, the employee should also have acknowledged the position description, received written performance expectations, and have been issued all necessary equipment.

If you have agency-specific policies that must be acknowledged by the employee, he or she should be reviewing them at this time, either with the HR office or the supervisor.

What is the HR office doing? Your agency may have a formal or informal orientation coordinated by the HR office. Formal orientation might include scheduling a multi-day session with presentations from key staff members. Or, your orientation might be more casual and involve the employee simply meeting with an HR representative to cover agency-specific policies.

Best practice new employee orientation programs include not only an acknowledgement of policies and workplace rules, but also an overview of your organization, a discussion of its mission and philosophy, and presentations by key staff members representing the diverse functions of your agency. A meet and greet session with executive staff is encouraged for a meaningful start to a career with your agency. See Appendix D for tips for a successful new employee orientation program.
Beyond Week 1: Continuing a Career with the Commonwealth

What’s the supervisor doing? The supervisor should continue building a positive relationship with the employee and ensuring his or her success with the commonwealth.

The employee may have been hired into a probationary status. If the employee is in a probationary status, the supervisor should be monitoring the employee’s performance in preparation for the end of probationary Employee Performance Review (EPR). Performance expectations, coaching, feedback and training, including on-the-job training, are critical for the success of the employee and the unit. The supervisor may find the tips on developing a training plan found in Appendix F to be helpful.

After the employee has been onboard for 30 days, supervisors will receive an email inviting him or her to participate in an online survey. The information gathered from this quick survey will help provide feedback regarding the onboarding process to both the HR office and HR Service Center.

A similar, briefer survey will be sent after the employee has been onboard about six months. Again, the feedback will be used to improve the onboarding process.

Following the commonwealth’s performance management model, the supervisor should continue to monitor the employee’s performance throughout the first year of employment. Depending on your agency’s rating cycle, an annual EPR may be due at this time.

What’s the employee doing? We hope the employee is developing professionally and contributing to the mission of the organization!

After being onboard for 30 days and again at 180 days, the employee will receive an email inviting him or her to participate in online surveys similar to that sent to the supervisor. The information gathered from these quick surveys will help provide feedback regarding the onboarding process to the HR office and HR Service Center.

What’s the HR office doing? Depending on your agency’s business processes, you may continue to provide key assistance to supervisors and managers through the employee’s first week and beyond. As an HR office representative, you may be assigned to:

- Coordinate the new employee orientation program
- Ensure the PD is updated by the supervisor
- Ensure the employee has performance expectations
- Ensure the employee has a training record
- Build the Official Personnel Folder (OPF)

You will have access to the results of the 30- and 180-day onboarding survey results. Check ’em out! Perhaps a supervisor needs some additional support, or an employee had an unexpected experience that needs to be addressed. Along with the results of the commonwealth mobility surveys, we hope that you will find the information useful.

For the long-term, you should also consider adding an onboarding component to your standard supervisory development training. The Supervisor’s Onboarding Handbook is a great resource to help you!
Alternate Orientation Processes: Tiers 2, 3 and 4

We've just walked through the standard, or Tier 1, onboarding process, which is summarized in the table below.

<thead>
<tr>
<th>Tier</th>
<th>Variables</th>
<th>Prospective Hire/New Employee:</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>
| 1    | ✓ Personal email account
      ✓ Processed transaction in SAP

                                                      ➢ Participates in online orientation prior to Day 1 |

However, there may be situations impacted by access to a computer, time constraints, or other factors that make following Tier 1 difficult. For those situations, the following alternate online orientation processes are available.

Tier 2

Tier 2 allows for the supervisor to facilitate the online orientation at the new employee’s workstation.

* Temporary password is last four digits of the individual’s Social Security Number followed immediately by the last two digits of his/her birth year, e.g. 954078.

Tier 3

Tier 3 may be best for agencies in which the HR office or a designate has a stronger role in facilitating the new employee’s orientation, or when the employee does not have an assigned work station.

There is an expectation with Tier 3 that a kiosk is made available in a comfortable setting for the employee to participate in the online orientation.

Variations to Tier 2 and Tier 3

There can be some variations to Tiers 2 and 3. Despite the scenario, your new employee will be able to access the online orientation in multiple ways.

- Invitation emails with a direct link to the online orientation will be sent to the employee’s home and work email addresses.
- Onboarding employees who have access to employee self service can visit www.myWorkplace.state.pa.us and will be directed to the online orientation after login.
- Prospective hires can open the public website (www.myHRonline.state.pa.us) to log into the online orientation with their unique employee ID number.

Tier 4

Lastly, the final alternate process, Tier 4, allows for the employee to complete the orientation off-line. The alternate delivery print packet is available to HR users through Employee Self Service by selecting the HR tab after login.

Appendix D: Agency HR Office Orientation Tips

Within the commonwealth’s standard onboarding process, much of the new hire documentation is processed and commonwealth policies are acknowledged during the online orientation. The supervisor has a critical role in onboarding the employee to local rules and procedures. However, there may be agency-specific policies and programs that are best communicated by your HR office during an agency new employee orientation program.

When developing a new employee orientation program, several best practices emerge. New employee orientations should:

- Be Engaging - Create interesting, compelling programs that move beyond lecture to stimulate knowledge transfer
- Involve Senior Leaders - Involve senior leadership in a visible way
- Create a Shared Vision - Create a shared vision by introducing new employees to company values and frameworks
- Be Welcoming and Enfolding - Ensure that new hires are welcomed on their first day with celebrations and the tools necessary to do their jobs
- Be Part of the Talent Value Chain - Treat it as a long-term process that begins with recruiting and continues through the employee’s entire tenure

Within this best practice framework, HR offices should ensure that agency-specific policies and practices are communicated to new employees. Subjects may include, but are not limited to:

- Mission Statement of the Agency
- Roles of the HR Office and the HR Service Center
- Employee Mobility Surveys
- Equal Employment Opportunity
- Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) Requests for Accommodations
- Promotional Opportunities
- Employee Recognition
- Employee Development and Training
- Employee Safety
- Employee Wellness
- State Employee Assistance Program (provide SEAP brochure)
- Supplementary Employment Requests
- Nursing Mothers Rooms
- Blood Bank Membership
- Agency Office Closings
- Photo ID Policy
- Building Accessibility
- Parking
- Use of Vehicles and Travel
- Use of Commonwealth Phones and Other Equipment
- Use of Personal Phones and Devices

In addition to a new employee orientation program, an agency employee handbook and well-designed employee information websites may be useful tools in communicating your agency policies and practices. Remember to encourage survey participation and to regularly review the data collected through the onboarding surveys and employee mobility survey.

This notice is to remind you that your new employee is approaching one year of commonwealth employment and the closure of the onboarding process. We hope that this time has been a positive experience for you as the supervisor.

Thank you for the time and effort you have invested in developing your staff. You can find additional resources to help you manage your employees at www.myWorkplace.state.pa.us. We wish you and your employee much success as you continue your careers with the commonwealth.
A key factor to ensuring the success of your new employees is developing a training plan that spans the first year of employment. To provide the best guidance, the training plan should be a written document and include the suggested order of completion of the training, as well as a timeline with completion dates. The training plan can be written in various formats, so consult your agency training officer to determine if your agency has a preferred template.

Suggestions to include in the training plan:

- Mandatory training requirements
  This includes any commonwealth mandatory training for new employees and agency specific mandatory training requirements. Examples include agency orientation, customer service training, and continuity of government courses.

- Policy and procedural training
  This may include training on office equipment, telephones, or other office/work location-specific policies.

- Training related to job responsibilities
  This includes any training related to the new employee’s job responsibilities. Possible suggestions to include are:
    - Formal trainings required for job certification
    - Job shadowing with another employee
    - Regularly scheduled on the job training
    - Reading manuals, policies, or other written material
    - Meetings with co-workers and/or other agency staff to orient to mission and responsibilities
    - Attending Keystone Academy for Learning classes or agency training
    - Out-service training

For more information on training and employee development, consult https://www.hrm.oa.pa.gov/training-development/Training/Pages/default.aspx, www.myWorkplace.state.pa.us, or your agency training officer.

Appendix H:
HR Frequently Asked Questions

General Questions

Q. Why aren’t employees who undergo a change in employment condition, i.e. moving from a wage position to a salaried position or changing from non-permanent to permanent, included in the online orientation?

A. Employees in wage positions who are moved or hired into salaried positions, like Temporary Clerical Pool staff selected for permanent jobs, are treated as transfers for onboarding purposes. They should have participated in the online orientation when they were hired initially, so their onboarding experience will include the agency and supervisory orientations only. Processes for addressing employees who move from a non-permanent to a permanent status are also outside of the online orientation.

Q. Why are annuitants included in the online orientation?

A. Annuitants have typically had a break in service, and as rehires are required to complete the online orientation. Their online orientation will not include benefits and other content which does not pertain to their status.

Q. Will the online orientation be in languages other than English?

A. No, not at this time. Please follow your agency’s practice for acquiring an interpreter if the employee will be participating in the online orientation on site.

Q. Is the online orientation compatible with assistive technology?

A. No, not at this time. HR offices and/or supervisors should be prepared to seek an appropriate accommodation consistent with commonwealth and agency disability employment-related policies. An alternate content print packet for these exceptional cases is available to HR offices through ESS > Login > HR > Enterprise Onboarding.

Q. Can an employee be disciplined if he or she doesn’t complete the tours within standard timeframes?

A. It is not recommended that a new employee be disciplined specifically for not completing the tours within the expected time; however, supervisors should note if a pattern of poor performance develops and take appropriate corrective action.

Accessing and Participating in the Online Orientation

Q. How much time will it take my new employee to complete the tours?

A. Tour 1 average is 1 hour to complete. Tour 2 average is 2 hours to complete.

Q. How long will employees be able to access the online orientation after they have completed the tours?

A. 60 days
Q. What happens if the employee leaves the position, i.e. transfers to another position, prior to completing the tours?

A. If an employee leaves the position through separation, promotion, demotion or transfer, the data that was captured through the online orientation will be archived and notifications will cease. If the individual remains employed by the commonwealth, he or she will not have the opportunity to return to the online orientation and the agency should ensure that the employee has acknowledged all commonwealth policies and is made aware of the information in tours.

Q. How does a prospective hire or employee reset his or her password?

A. The HR Service Center will reset the password. The individual should contact the HR Service Center via the "Ask a Question" feature in the online orientation or by calling 866.377.2672.

Q. My employee did not complete the online orientation before the first day. How does he or she participate in the online orientation?

A. Depending on your agency’s practice, your employee can follow Tier 3 as described in the “Alternate Online Orientation Processes” section in the HR Office’s Onboarding Handbook and the Supervisor’s Onboarding Handbook. A kiosk may be located at the HR office through which the employee can follow the online orientation, or another computer may be available at a closer field location. Read the kiosk set up guidance here.

Q. What happens if the employee or supervisor does not complete the feedback surveys?

A. Employees and supervisors will be sent invitations at 30 days and 180 days after the employee’s start date to complete quick online surveys to provide feedback on the onboarding process. These surveys are voluntary and there is no negative impact should employees and supervisors not complete them.

Fill a Vacant Position

Enterprise Position/Personnel Action Request (E-PAR)

Q. What should be included with the Fill a Vacant Position E-PAR for employees who will not participate in the online orientation because they are not new or are not being re-hired?

A. The process for filling vacancies through promotions, demotions and reassignments of current employees is not changing. You should follow your agency’s business process for launching the Fill a Vacant Position E-PAR, select the appropriate employee action (demotion, promotion, or reassignment) within the E-PAR, and provide any additional information or documents necessary for the HR Service Center to complete the transaction.
Q. The Fill a Vacant Position E-PAR may be used to request the filling of positions with non-commonwealth employees, such as PA Conservation Corps, PA National Guard, health registrars, external persons, and volunteers. How will the E-PAR process change for these employee groups and subgroups?

A. Since holders of these positions are not considered commonwealth employees, they are excluded from the online orientation. However, these forms should be completed by the individual and attached to the E-PAR: I9, W4, Direct Deposit and Emergency Contact forms.

HR Office Issues

Q. What is the HR Service Center’s role during the online orientation?

A. The HR Service Center is available to respond to prospective hire and employee questions about commonwealth employment and benefits via the “Ask a Question” feature in the online orientation or by calling 866.377.2672. The HR Service Center will also contact the employee directly if critical employment forms and policy acknowledgments found in Tour 1 are not received through the online orientation within standard timeframes.

Q. What do I do if the prospective hire calls the HR office with questions while participating in the online orientation?

A. You may respond to his or her question if you are confident of the answer, refer him or her to the “Ask a Question” feature in the upper-right corner of the online orientation, or encourage him or her to contact the HR Service Center at 866.377.2672 for the most up-to-date information available.

Q. What do I do with non-compliance notifications?

A. The HR office is copied on notifications sent to the supervisor when the prospective hire/employee does not complete tours within expected timeframes. The supervisor’s name and email address is included in the body of the notification. If the position is vacant or the supervisor does not have an email address, your office may need to take action. The HR Service Center will contact the prospective hire/employee if critical employment forms and policy acknowledgments are not received within standard timeframes; however, the HR office may work with supervisors to ensure that Tour 2, Your Job with the Commonwealth, is completed within 14 calendar days.

Q. What do I do with the prior service notice email?

A. If the prospective hire has prior commonwealth service and/or military service which impacts leave accrual and/or seniority, the HR office should review the hire’s employment history and make the appropriate adjustments in SAP. This email should not be put in the employee’s Official Personnel Folder and is not required to be kept by the HR office.

Q. How do I access policy acknowledgments?

A. As the employee reviews and acknowledges commonwealth policies within the online orientation, the dates and times are captured electronically and the employee completes a final policy acknowledgement page. Policy acknowledgments are maintained in the electronic Official Personnel Folder and will be viewable within SAP via PA20/30 transactions.
Q. How do I access a new employee’s emergency contact information?
A. HR offices have access to a Standard R/3 Report (Transaction Code: Y_DC6_14000171) that allows you to select and filter either employee contact information or emergency contact information for all employees within the agency. This report should be run on a regular basis in accordance with your agency’s COOP/COG plan. You can learn more about this report by reviewing PA Alert 2011-10.

Q. Do HR offices have to complete the New Employee Orientation Checklist?
A. No, the online orientation replaces Part I of the New Employee Orientation Checklist. In situations where the employee must be provided an in-person orientation and will not have CWOPA credentials, hard copies of necessary forms and policies will be accessible through ESS. Your HR office will continue to conduct an in-person orientation to cover agency-specific policies and procedures. See Appendix D for additional information.

Q. What should the HR office do with the results of the feedback surveys?
A. HR Offices will be able to access responses to 30-day and 180-day feedback surveys and take corrective action, if necessary. HR professionals with the employee mobility role in Oracle have access to the survey data collected. To gain access to this role, please use the HRISD Authorization Request Form and request access to the "Employee Mobility/Hiring Process Survey Reporting Views." Appropriate action may include additional training for supervisors, improved coordination among those involved in onboarding, like the IT office or field HR staff, or addressing an employee relations issue.

Q. How can I train our HR field staff on the onboarding process?
A. The “Onboarding Training for HR Offices” course was recorded for field office training and is available through the Office of Administration’s website. The HR Office’s Onboarding Handbook is also available for reference when customizing training for your agency.

Q. Is there any ongoing maintenance required by our HR office in support of onboarding?
A. In addition to meeting the timeline requirements and training your agency supervisors, you will want to ensure your office is prepared to maintain the following items.

- I-9 Verifier position designations – after the implementation of onboarding, please follow existing procedures for submitting a role request E-PAR to maintain the I-9 Verifier role assignments within your agency. Read the implementation guidance here.

- Responsible HR Orgs – after the implementation of onboarding, remember that any reorganizations may require an update to your previously assigned responsible HR orgs. Read the implementation guidance here.

Welcome to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania! In order to process your employment quickly and efficiently, the commonwealth has created an online orientation for your convenience. We’ll send the orientation link to your personal email address shortly. We request that you complete the two tours of the online orientation by the deadlines listed below. Feel free to contact the HR Service Center at 866.377.2672, Monday through Friday from 7:30 AM – 5:00 PM, if you have any questions.

✔ Login & Technology Requirements

☐ Watch your personal email! Using the personal email address you provided to the hiring manager, we’ll send you a welcome email that includes a link to the online orientation.

  o You’ll need a computer with Internet access. Supported browsers include Internet Explorer 7+, Safari 6+ and the most recent stable versions of Firefox and Google Chrome.

  o You should download and install the free Adobe Reader if you don’t already have it.

  o You can add RA-HRSSC@enwisen.net and SSISnotifications@enwisen.net to your email’s address book to ensure our email arrives. These are unmonitored email accounts; please do not reply to the email notifications.

☐ After launching the online orientation, you’ll be asked to create a password.

  o Enter your temporary password – the last four digits of your social security number followed immediately by the last two digits of your birth year. Example: If the last four digits of your SSN are 9540 and your birth year is 1978, your temporary password would be 954078.

  o Create a new password by following the prompts.

☐ If you don’t receive the welcome email within one week, check your email’s junk or spam folder. If you can’t find the email, call the HR Service Center for help.
