

Life Balance

Healthy matters to keep in mind.

May 2015

Summer safety tips for everyone

As the weather warms up, it's tempting to throw open the windows and doors and catch the breeze. Many of us are spending more time outside. This is also a good time to do a safety check to help keep you and your loved ones safe this summer and all year long.

Protect yourself at home

- Keep your home safe and secure. Install locks on windows and doors, and use them, even if you're away for a few minutes. Don't hide a spare key under a doormat — leave it with a trusted neighbor or friend.
- Be wary of unexpected visitors. Don't open the door until you know who's on the other side. Ask delivery or service people for photo identification before you let them in. If you have any doubts, call the company to verify.

- Consider getting a home-alarm system. It can monitor for burglary, fire and medical emergencies.

Protect yourself when you're out and about

- Use the buddy system whenever possible. Avoid walking alone, particularly at night. Vary your route and stick to well-traveled, well-lit areas.
- Keep your money safe. Carry your purse close to your body, not dangling by the straps. For extra security, keep your wallet in your inside coat or front pants pocket. Avoid carrying credit cards you don't need or large amounts of cash.
- Use caution in the car. Drive on well-traveled streets, and keep your windows rolled up and your doors locked. Park in well-lit areas, as close to the entrance as possible. Never hitchhike or pick up a hitchhiker. And keep your car in good working order with plenty of gas in the tank.
- Take control. Be aware of your surroundings, and walk with confidence. Don't let anyone violate your space. Make smart choices — don't let alcohol or other substances impair your judgment.

Protect your identity

- Be careful when giving out personal information. Unless you initiated contact or know the person or company you're dealing with, don't share your information over the phone, through the mail or online.
- Just shred it. When you're ready to discard documents, such as bank statements, pre-approved credit offers or insurance forms, shred them.
- Keep passwords top secret. Be creative when setting up a new online password. Avoid using your mother's maiden name, your birth date or the last four digits of your Social Security number.
- Monitor your credit. Before you enter your credit card number online, make sure the website is secure. Order a copy of your credit report every year, and correct all mistakes with the credit bureau.

When home isn't safe

Domestic violence at home is one of the most common forms of danger to women. Physical or sexual abuse by an intimate partner is reported by about one out of three women in the United States at some point in their lives. If you're experiencing abuse, seek support from family and friends, or call SEAP at 800-692-7459. Call 911 if you're in immediate danger.

Protecting your family and staying safe isn't always easy. But you don't have to go it alone. We're here to help. Call or log on any time for help with any of life's challenges.

SEAP

Call toll-free
1-800-692-7459
1-800-824-4306 (TDD)
or log on to www.liveandworkwell.com
access code: Pennsylvania

Keeping your baby safe in summer

Here are a few reminders about keeping little ones safe indoors and out.

- When outside, dress your baby in long sleeves and pants to avoid bug bites. Insect repellents containing DEET should not be applied to infants younger than age 2 months.
- Choose toys wisely — watch out for choking hazards.
- Keep your baby well-hydrated and cool during extreme heat and humidity. Young children are at a greater risk for heat-related problems like heatstroke
- Never leave a baby unattended near a pool or other body of water.
- In the car, make sure the child safety seat is the right size for your baby and installed properly. Keep infants rear-facing until a minimum of age 1 and at least 20 pounds.

Summer surfing protection

It's nearly impossible to watch for every risk out there, and the Internet is no different. Online predators and bullies are a growing danger to kids. These tips can help make web-surfing safer for your children.

- Set rules. Ask your children not to trade personal photographs, reveal personal information or agree to meet any "online friends" without parental supervision.
- Get involved. Keep the computer in a common area such as the living room. Share an email account with your child, so you can monitor communication. Bookmark favorite sites for easy access. Spend time together online.
- Set up online tools. Your Internet service provider may offer parent-control options to block certain material. There also are programs that monitor your child's activity.

- Consider software that helps block your child's access to inappropriate sites. Filtering programs can block certain sites and restrict your child's personal information from being sent online. Additionally, the Children's Online Privacy Protection Act requires that websites include privacy policies and get parental consent before collecting or using a child's personal information.

Above all, the best online protection is you. Talk with your kids about Internet safety. Let them know they can — and should — always come to you if they feel threatened, offended or confused.

Resources

www.liveandworkwell.com

At liveandworkwell.com, you'll find resources to help you and your family stay healthy and safe. Look for topics under the LiveWell, BeWell and WorkWell sections. Search for a therapist using the "Search for Clinician" link.

The information, advice, treatments and therapeutic approaches in this article are provided for informational and educational purposes only. Consult with your doctor or mental health provider for specific health care needs, treatment or medications. Certain treatments may not be covered under your benefit, so check with your health plan regarding your coverage of services. We do not recommend or endorse any treatment, medication, suggested approach, specific or otherwise, nor any organization, entity, or resource material that may be named herein. We make no representation or warranty of any third party website, including but not limited to, that they are free of computer viruses or the accuracy of their content. Except for Liveandworkwell.com no other site identified herein is affiliated or controlled by us. You will be subject to the terms of use, privacy terms and policies of any site you may visit.